CAMPUS SUPERIOR MESSAGE

Sir Isaac Newton says, “Live your life as an exclamation rather than explanation.” We go on marching towards our goal without being static in our thinking and doing. As human beings, we need to be authentic in our approach, discovering new methodology of teaching and making a mark through our actions. Frequently we try to prove ourselves in wasting our valuable time by explaining the projects and seeking approval for what is done rather than involving ourselves in new discoveries. Let us not spend time in proving ourselves. Let us do our best in our learning and teaching so that people who see us may change themselves for better tomorrow.
